News to Keep You in Good Working Condition

November 2019

Congratulations! You are now reading the SECOND issue of ICML's new, quarterly e-newsletter, sent to you and thousands of like-minded allies & certified practitioners worldwide who enjoy professional relationships with ICML. As noted in August's inaugural issue, it is my intention for this to be a useful vehicle for announcements, guest author posts, and other informative items to engage us all. Lube on!

Video: Johnson Explains ICML 55.1 Standard

The recent Machinery Lubrication Conference in Houston provided us opportunities to educate attendees about the new ICML 55 Lubricated Asset Management Standards. Our board chairman, Bryan Johnson of Arizona Public Service, led a learning session that explains the practical structure of Part 1, the ICML 55.1 Requirements Standard. Our cameras were there to record it all, including audience Q&A. (38 minutes)

2019 Machinery Lubrication Conference Recap

Read Noria's Recap

ICML was an endorsing sponsor of the Machinery Lubrication Conference in early November, where we reconnected with plenty of certified practitioners and met new potential candidates at our booth. Event organizer Noria has prepared a quick recap that highlights the pre-workshops & learning sessions, Lance Allred's keynote, prize winners, and exhibitor testimonials. We encourage all ICML certificants to acquaint yourselves with this practical conference and put the next one on your 2020 calendar.

All-New Membership Opportunities

We recently revamped our membership packages for organizations and individuals. Our membership chart lists some basics, but we also published a full article describing the most substantial changes: member logos, guest authors, member obligations, e-blasts and other exposure opportunities. Also, certified individuals who join as Associate Members will be "gold-starred" in our online professionals list. We look forward to accepting your application soon.

Three more subjects about all things NEW ...

New Job or Email?

Remember to notify us whenever you change jobs or email addresses. This includes those times when your company or employer revises its email format. Also, providing us with a secondary (personal) email address helps fill the communications gap if you are ever between jobs.

New Article Ideas?

Some of our new corporate members are providing guest authors and bloggers from their staffs to share expertise on lubrication topics that are timely and relevant. This means that we are open to your topical suggestions that we can pass along to the writers. What do you want to see?

New Certified Logos

Because certified individuals cannot use our main logo in business cards or email signatures, we now offer special logos to visually convey your certified expertise. For now, just email requests to paulh@lubecouncil.org. After we verify your status, we will email your logo(s).
